CENTRE FOR EXECUTIVE LEADERSHIP

The Pharmaceutical Out-licensing Course

For R&D-based Products

Be able to decide on the best deal type for products in R&D – Know what to include in CDAs, MTAs and term sheets – Learn how to prepare product information and how to find potential partners – Know how to calculate the value of your product and optimise the deal structure.

David Scott

- Over 25 years licensing experience in the healthcare sector - including eight years working in BD & Licensing for a multinational.
- As a freelance licensing and business development consultant since 1996, he has successfully concluded numerous inward and outward licensing agreements for clients covering small molecules, biologicals and delivery technologies.
- Author of Scrip's best-selling report: Practical Guide to Pharmaceutical Licensing.

By Attending This Course, You Will

- 1) Understand the key factors leading to a successful out-licensing deal of a pharmaceutical compound in R&D.
- 2) Learn how to profile your product and prepare product information to maximise its attractiveness to third parties.
- 3) Understand the key factors leading to valuing your product and how to set up a spreadsheet to optimise the commercial structure of the deal.
- 4) Find out how to target potential partners - and the best way to make successful contacts.
- 5) Learn what to include in a term sheet, as well as in CDAs and MTAs, and which issues to watch out for during negotiations.
- 6) Understand the due diligence process and what will be expected from you.
- 7) Get expert advice on negotiation strategy and on managing a deal post-signature.

Why You Should Attend

The Content: This course is designed to provide delegates with all the practical skills needed to out-license a development based product. The course is hard work but fulfilling and covers all the main aspects of licensing. It comes along with useful templates for future activities, including a spreadsheet to calculate optimal deal values.

The Expert: David Scott is well-respected in the pharmaceutical licensing world and is actively in- and out-licensing products for clients in the pharmaceutical, biotech and technology sectors. He also has a strong track record in running successful training courses and workshops, so he combines a hands-on approach to licensing with training skills.

The Pharmaceutical Out-licensing Course is the only available public training course delivered by David Scott on the topic of pharma licensing.

Who Should Attend

The Pharmaceutical Out-licensing Course is designed for those likely to be involved in the out-licensing process of a development product:

- Senior executives and scientists in companies developing or planning to develop products for out-licensing.
- Junior to mid-level managers, including scientists, commercial and legal managers, who are likely to be involved in the licensing and due diligence process.
- Business development managers, members of legal and IP teams with no formal training in licensing and staff joining the business development and licensing functions.
- Managers looking to broaden their personal career skills with a thorough understanding of the licensing process.

Agenda Day 1

Learning Methodology

David Scott is an experienced "hands-on" licensing manager - his report, "Scrip's Practical Guide to Pharmaceutical Licensing" has been called the "quintessential pharmaceutical licensing work". He matches a systematic presentation of the involved processes with practical anecdotes drawn from personal experience. Delegates are encouraged to raise specific issues in the group to take full advantage of his experience and advice. Each day ends with an exercise that allows delegates to put into practice the techniques. Delegates also receive a number of pro-formas (including a draft CDA) dealing with the issues discussed during the course.

One of the most valuable aspects of attending any C.E.L.forpharma course is not only being able to have your specific questions answered by a leading expert, but also having the opportunity to share experiences and have in-depth discussions with your international peers.
